Welcome to Erk's Travel Blog

Every autumn my friends and I organise a camping in Kaz Gölü, Tokat. I pack my backpack with a pair of boots, a cap and a raincoat. I never forget my sleeping bag and my binoculars because I like bird watching there. When we get the camp site, we immediately pitch the tents. At nights, we make a fire and sit around. We tell stories, jokes and sing. Everything gets dark, but just the stars and the moon shine, so we use a torch to get into our sleeping bags. In the mornings we get up early and have a big breakfast. Then we go walking or climbing to see some nice birds. We need also a compass not to lose our way. We sometimes find some mushrooms for lunch, so we need a pocketknife. Anyway, we spend a nice couple of days living in a clean, peaceful place.
